Money order so as to dispense with the presence of the stipendiary at the office of the Amildar, may be complied with, provided that no further responsibility is made to rest on the disbursing officers and that the money order receipt is accepted as a final discharge of their obligations.

But the Dy Comrs of Hassan and Shimoga differ from this view and state that they are not in favor of this mode of payment of the Stipends.

The reasons adduced by them are briefly

1) No serious inconvenience is caused to the grantees by the present system.

2) The grants are very small & are generally large in number.

3) In some cases they are payable to the grantees for life only in which case they should come in person & receive the Stipends.

4) Generally the grants are annual ones.

5) Pay[s] will have to be noted in the Stipend order which is usually with the party.

The only cases in which the presence of the party receiving pay[s] can be dispensed with are (1) illness, ~~infirmity~~ or other bodily infirmity in which case a life certificate should be sent and may be authorised to be made by somebody else. (2) Special exemption from personal attendance may be obtained whenever necessary.

There is also the provision that the party can claim pay at periodical intervals in case he finds it inconvenient to attend the office of the Auditor regularly every month, say once in 4 or 5 months in conformity with the rules in force in the account department.

May the member who moved the subject be informed that on full consideration of the subject, Govt. find it difficult to comply with his request?

Sir,

With reference to your letter No: 1798-801-Mug 91-14-2, Dated the 11th February 1915, calling for my opinion in the matter of the payment of cash grants (Subject No: 93 of the Dasra Representation Assembly of 1913), I have the honor to state that no serious inconvenience is caused by the present system. These cash grants are of petty amounts and are generally large in number number. In some cases they are payable "for life" of the grantee only, and in such cases it is essential on principle that the parties should appear in person to receive the grants. In the case of the others also, it is highly inconvenient to direct the remittance of the grants by Postal Money order. If the parties find it difficult to attend frequently to receive the grant, they might well attend periodically and receive payment. It may also be observed that as a rule the grants are annual grants alone.

For these reasons it seems to me that the present practice is quite suitable, and there is no need for any change as suggested by the Representative Assembly Member.

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Sir,

With reference to your letter No.1707-8 dated 11th February 1915 calling for my opinion re payment of cash inams, I have the honor to state that cash grants in the Malnad include

(i) Grants to major muzrai institutions (ii) grants to minor muzrai institutions and (iii) personal grants.

2. Grants to major muzrai institutions are annually credited to the temple funds and are utilised for expenditure according to fixed scales

3. Payment of grants to the managers of the minor muzrai institutions is subject to the maintenance of the institution in good order and to the fulfilment of the conditions of the grant. In this case enquiries are usually instituted by the Amildar at the instance of the manager and payments made after obtaining a mahazar signed by the devotees of the temple that the conditions have been duly fulfilled. In this case there appears to be no objection to remitting the amount of cash grant by money order after the Amildar is satisfied in regard to the fulfilment of the conditions.

4. Regarding personal cash grants, payments have to be noted and initialled by the disbursing officer in the stipendary order which is usually with the party. The disbursing officer should also be satisfied as to the personal identification of the party. As such it is not possible to dispense with the presence of the party at the time of payments, unless he is specially exempted or unless he is disabled to appear by illness or bodily infirmity in which case payment can be made upon the production of the stipendiary order and a life-certificate signed by a responsible official of the Government.
